4(1) There is nothing noticeable in the report except that the division of cases disposed of into 'normal' and 'abnormal' seems to be a little anamolous. The 'abnormal' cases are more than the 'normal' ones. It appears to be better to revert to the old method of striking a general average for all the cases.

5 (2) The number of Ex Co appns returned as wholly infructuous has again mounted up. But it is learnt that the Ch. Cl are issuing instructions to all the Judges in this matter.

being an increase of 1477. The increase is observed in both original and small cause suits. The average value of suits was also slightly higher than in the year 1909-10. Of the 21969 suits instituted 11717 were original suits and 10252 small causes. The disposals during the year show an increase, the total number of suits, both original and small cause, disposed of being 21577 against 19,683 in the preceding year. The arrears at the end of the year were slightly larger than at the end of the preceding year. The average duration of contested original suits was shorter than in 1909-10, though that of contested small cause suits was twice as long as that in the preceding year.

Execution work. The percentage of applications which were returned as wholly infructuous was 73.8 in 1908-9 and 58.83 in 1909-10. But in the year under review there was an increase in the number of such applications by 13.5 per cent over that of the preceding year.

Appellate work.— There was a slight increase in the total number of appeals filed in the Subordinate Courts as well as in the number disposed of by them. It is noted that the average duration of appeals disposed of rose from 138·80 days to 201·31 days in the District Courts and from 81·43 days to 182·27 days in the Sub-ordinate Courts. The Chief Court explain that this is due in all cases to the disposal during the year of several appeals which were pending for a long time.

Appellate work of the Chief Court.— The total number of first appeals filed in the Chief Court was 252 against 263 in 1909-10, and, including the arrears pending at the close of the previous year, there were 759 such appeals for disposal. Of these 246 were disposed of. The average duration of such appeals was longer by 287·41 days as compared with the preceding year.

GPB—10,000—22-2-11

The number of second appeals filed during the year was 162 and the number pending at the close of the previous year was 250. Of these 156 were disposed of during the year, their average duration being 541.24 days against 549 in 1909-10. In order to give relief to the chief court where work was in a state of congestion, orders were passed during the current official year establishing a District and Sessions Court at Bangalore. It is hoped that this measure will enable the chief Court to clear off the arrears soon and to devote more attention to the work of inspection of the subordinate courts in the State.
